

MEDIA ADVISORY

First Nations Health Authority
Health through wellness

For Immediate Release

May 24, 2019

Coast Salish Territory - The First Nations Health Authority (FNHA), in partnership with the Provincial Health Officer, the Coroners Service of British Columbia and the First Nations Health Council (FNHC) invites you to the presentation of the most recent First Nations opioid overdose data.

Please join Dr. Evan Adams, FNHA Chief Medical Officer, Grand Chief Doug Kelly, the FNHC chairperson, Provincial Health Officer Dr. Bonnie Henry and Chief Coroner Lisa Lapointe on May 27 to hear about the impacts of the overdose crisis on the First Nations population and the need to take action as the gap widens between First Nations and the rest of the population.

When:

Monday, May 27, 1:00pm – 2:30pm

Where:

Morris J Wosk Centre for Dialogue – Simon Fraser University Downtown
580 W Hastings St, Vancouver, BC V6B 5K3 | 420 Strategy Room

Toll-Free Media Call-In

1-800-319-4610

Callers should dial in at least 5 minutes prior to the scheduled start time and ask to join the call.

RVSP to media@fnha.ca

Contact: +1 604 831 4898