This is an exciting, temporary opportunity for a Nurse Practitioner who will bring their clinical knowledge and passion for providing quality, compassionate care to motivate and inspire others, working with the Aboriginal Health team and our partner communities.

As an Advanced Practice Nurse, you will provide culturally appropriate, holistic, primary health care to First Nation clients. You honour the wisdom of Aboriginal beliefs, cultures and traditions. You have the potential to impact on health services dramatically at all levels as you provide consultation and follow up throughout the community you serve.

Your qualifications include current practicing registration as a Nurse Practitioner with the College of Registered Nurses of British Columbia (CRNBC) and relevant, clinical nursing experience. Cultural knowledge of Aboriginal traditions and practices, and an understanding of the social context that leads to health disparities among Aboriginal people, are essential to this role.

Fraser Health has a well-established NP Community of Practice which will provide you with an opportunity to meet regularly with your colleagues and on an ad hoc basis with other leaders.

Bring your clinical knowledge and passion for providing quality, compassionate care to motivate and inspire others. Be part of a dynamic team that will shape an environment for clinical and service excellence.
