Community Health Nurse

Under the supervision of the Deputy Chief Operating Officer the Community Health Nurse (RN) assesses, plans, implements, evaluates and documents all nursing care of patients in accordance with policies and professional nursing standards. The RN oversees the quality of departmental nursing services and develops day-to-day nursing care plans. The RN is the primary point of contact between patients, families and healthcare professionals. The RN follows the nursing process of assessment, planning, intervention, implementation, and evaluation and performs all other duties as assigned. Preference will be given to qualified First Nations candidates. This is a salary position.

Minimum Qualifications

- Graduate of an accredited school of nursing with a Bachelor's of Science in Nursing (BSN).
- RN License to Practice.
- Minimum 1 year of supervised experience as an RN.
- Current CPR Certification.
- Knowledgeable regarding the nursing process and its application, including the assessment, planning, implementation, and evaluation of nursing care.
- Demonstrated ability to assist patients, family members or other clients with concern and empathy; respecting their confidentiality and privacy and communicating in a courteous and respectful manner.
- A well-defined sense of diplomacy, including solid negotiation, conflict resolution, and people management skills.
- Computer skills: Microsoft Office Suite
- Good organizational, time management and prioritizing skills
- Demonstrated ability to work independently and as part of a team
- Physically able to perform all assigned tasks
- Clean Criminal Records Review
- Valid driver's licence

Desired Qualifications – in addition to above:

- Current Vaccination Certification
- Current AHA Healthcare Provider training (BCLS)
- First Nation experience nursing on reserve
- Previous experience in community program development
- Formal training in crisis management
- Familiarity with integrated health services

Closing Date: Will remain open until filled. Prior continual recruitment campaigns have not yielded a successful candidate; minimum requirements must be met. All applicants who meet the minimum requirements will be responded to. Preference will be given to qualified First Nations candidates.
