

Centre for Excellence in Indigenous Health

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Extended Learning

Share your Knowledge with Future Indigenous Health Leaders

The Centre for Excellence in Indigenous Health and UBC Extended Learning invite applications for a part-time instructor position for the award-winning certificate program “Aboriginal Health and Community Administration” (AHCAP) beginning in March 2019.

The course requiring an instructor is “Communication and Leadership” currently scheduled for March 21 – May 15, 2019. The course is taught in a blended format that combines face-to-face instruction at UBC Vancouver over a three-day period, followed by seven weeks of online facilitation providing feedback and marking of participants’ assignments. The course is the first of five in the ten-month AHCAP program and sets the tone for the courses that follow.

For more information about AHCAP and to download the latest copy of the AHCAP Handbook, please visit www.extendedlearning.ubc.ca/ahcap

Required Qualifications

Expertise in Communication and Leadership in an Indigenous health context

- Qualified through training and life experience to speak knowledgeably about the subject matter in a health context
- In depth knowledge and expertise working with Indigenous communities
- Current professional engagement in the field
- A university degree preferred or similar

Experience in adult education

- Qualified through training and/or life experience to conduct training for adults
- Competent in creating safe and respectful learning groups
- Training in Indigenous pedagogy strategies and protocols according to situation, nation and place
- For face-to-face instruction/facilitation:

- Comfortable leading participants through experiential learning cycle, including setup of the learning activity, encouraging reflection on the learning, generalizing the learning to issues outside the classroom, and applying or practising the learning
- Limits use of presentations or lectures; frames them within the experiential learning cycle (above)
- For online instruction/facilitation:
 - Dedication to being present to participants' questions and problems (checking in at LEAST every other day)
 - Competent in providing a balance of support and challenge in response to every assignment posting

Computer skills

- Competent in negotiating an online learning management system (e.g., Canvas)

Additional Qualifications

- Ability to provide clear instructions to adult learners
- Ability to respond quickly to participants' questions (or refer them to administrative staff)

How to Apply:

Please send an electronic application package including a covering letter addressing the qualifications, along with a current resume to ahcap.exl@ubc.ca

The deadline for applications is 4:30pm Friday, November 30, 2018.