NOTES ABOUT TOXIC DRUG POISONING EVENTS:

- Most toxic drug poisoning events are non-fatal and represent instances where paramedics were called and responded to an overdose, whereas toxic drug poisoning deaths represent people who overdosed and died.

- The negative impacts of single or repeated toxic drug poisoning events on an individual can include: heart conditions, liver and kidney problems, brain damage, decrease in mental health, disconnection from support networks, and loss of spiritual and/or cultural connections.

- The data used to calculate the percentage of toxic drug poisoning events experienced by First Nations people is based only on health records where a Personal Health Number (PHN) was available. The number of First Nations toxic drug poisoning events attended by paramedics and the percentage increase in First Nations people experiencing events are likely underestimated due to the limited availability of PHNs in the data. Unfortunately, not all toxic drug poisoning events have a PHN associated with them.

- Toxic drug poisoning events that were treated successfully in community and events where 9-1-1 was not called are not captured in this data.
A Healing Prayer

Good Grandmothers,
Good Grandfathers,
Creator of all good things.

Hear the loved ones asking for support and love, pick up their spirits.

Take away what is harming them. Leave them here in a good way to carry on their path in life.

They are loved and they are needed to fill their life’s purpose.

Help them to think and see clearly, and to use their bodies in a good way.

“Harm Reduction teaches love; I want to help people learn to love themselves and find the inner strength to heal.”

SIERRA KORTENBACH Mental Health and Wellness Liaison
sierra.kortenbach@fnha.ca | 778-684-2289
“Harm reduction is important to me because it allows us to meet individuals where they are at, honouring that everyone’s journey is different. Harm reduction offers individuals the dignity, respect, and love that they deserve.”

NARDIA BROWN Wellness System Navigator
Nardia.brown@fnha.ca | 604-743-0635
“Harm reduction shows the vulnerability and strength we have within and humanity as is. We are not here to fix or control it but to meet people where they are at and honour the individuality of each journey.”

DID YOU KNOW?

Street drugs are more available and stronger than ever before. Toxic drug poisoning death has become the number one health crisis in BC.

Cultural healing works. Get out on the land, connect with nature, smudge, sweat, pray – it heals our spirits.
