NOTES ABOUT TOXIC DRUG POISONING EVENTS:

- Most toxic drug poisoning events are non-fatal and represent instances where paramedics were called and responded to an overdose, whereas toxic drug poisoning deaths represent people who overdosed and died.
- The negative impacts of single or repeated toxic drug poisoning events on an individual can include: heart conditions, liver and kidney problems, brain damage, decrease in mental health, disconnection from support networks, and loss of spiritual and/or cultural connections.
Source: www.drugabuse.gov/drug-topics/health-consequences-drug-misuse/introduction
- The data used to calculate the percentage of toxic drug poisoning events experienced by First Nations people is based only on health records where a Personal Health Number (PHN) was available. The number of First Nations toxic drug poisoning events attended by paramedics and the percentage increase in First Nations people experiencing events are likely underestimated due to the limited availability of PHNs in the data. Unfortunately, not all toxic drug poisoning events have a PHN associated with them.
- Toxic drug poisoning events that were treated successfully in community and events where 9-1-1 was not called are not captured in this data.

RESPONDING TO AND HEALING FROM TOXIC DRUG SUPPLY POISONING

A MESSAGE FOR YOU

"In the face of these immeasurable losses, we need to build hope ... hope that we can turn things around and save lives. But how? By reflecting on how we talk and think about people who use substances – and how we treat them. Let's decide to have those difficult conversations with the people we care about, with people who are using substances."

Dr. Nel Wieman
Deputy Chief Medical Officer
FNHA

ACTIONS THE FNHA IS TAKING TO SAVE LIVES AND SUPPORT HEALING IN 2022

Programs and initiatives the FNHA is currently providing or developing that will positively and directly impact Indigenous people in BC in 2022:

- An Indigenous harm reduction portal, created in partnership with Indigenous peers, will provide resources and supports.
- Community events funded through the Indigenous harm reduction grants will assist in bringing supports and services closer to home.
- The Courageous Conversations toolkit will support communities in fostering ongoing community conversations and support healing.
- The Sharing-from-the-Heart Circle is a safe virtual space where people who have lost loved ones can share hardships and heal.
- A digital story-sharing platform will connect people to share stories about the loved ones they've lost and help people find a community of support.
- Innovative outreach approaches to managing alcohol and substance withdrawal are being implemented in the Vancouver Island region.
- Attaching land-based healing programs to street nursing in order to provide seamless access to culture for people who use substances in the Vancouver Island region.
